CENTRAL OHIO CHAPTER

35TH ANNIVERSARY

Breaking the Mold: A Nonlinear Approach to Construction Financial Projections

The role of a financial professional in construction is different than in any other industry. Managing the financial inputs, throughputs, and outputs in construction are complicated by the unpredictable nature of the source data.

INSTITUTE OF CERTIFIED
CONSTRUCTION INDUSTRY
FINANCIAL PROFESSIONALS

Why is construction the most at-risk industry for suicide deaths?

Male-dominated industries tend to have more suicides. The macho, tough guy, and stoic nature of construction workers can even discourage those who are most at risk for suicide from seeking help. Men, especially white men in their early 20s through their 50s, account for the bulk of suicides.
